CHARLESTON, W. VA., Nov. 8, '78. To the Editors of the Intelligencer: The Legislature have at last concluded ides that this Legislature would The idea that this Legislature would ever adjourn as long as there was any money or prospect of any in the Treasury, was long ago abandoned by all who were at all familiar with the make up of the body. It is understood that Senator Bishop loaned the State enough of change o pay some of the members per diem and the Public Printer's bills, in order to keep ratters going. This is the first instance rule has led to this result, and no one can tell when it will end. Think of it, tax-payers, after all the taxes you have paid your different collectors that the money is your different collectors that the money is all gone, and the Governor compelled to borrow money from the Republicans to pay members of the Legislature. No wonder they think it beat to adjourn and go home when their board bills and "cider" bills are likely to have to be paid out of their private funds. The School Fund was drawn on for $17,000 in ce of direct constitutional probibi-It will be remembered that a great was made about the Republicans ng on this fund when other funds good deal of gum or pliability in the present Democratic organic law of the land, and that where it don't suit all purposes it can be managed by skillful hands to sait all emergencies.

The "Ginseng" bill was under consider, ation in the House of Delegates to day on motion of its patron, Mr. Woodell, of Pocahantas, whose whole soul and existance seems to hang on the tate of this hill. He was preparing the minds of as to make it entirely worthless so far so as to make it entirely worthless so far as meeting the cases its patron had in view. He proposes in the original bill to fise any one found digging giuseng on the lands of another fitty dollars and send them to the county jail. Think of it-Pick up the poor people and hustle them off to jail because they hunt and dig a wild root that the land owner would never think of gathering. The bill was amended so as to read the "enclosed lands of another," which would be virtually sending these people into a corn or wheat field for the much coveted root. W.G. Brown, Wooddell, Butcher and Price Brown, Wooddell, Butcher and Price spoke in favor of the original bill, and Bonk of Washington have declared a control of Calhoun, against it. Most of the afternoon was spent over this matter beautiful the collection of the control of the collection of the collect and at last it was laid on the table to be and at last it was lain on the table to be brought up again.

The Senate spent most of the day with the Bethany College bill. Alex Campbell is here and is working very assidously for its passage. The friends of the bill are rather sanguine that it will pass, but its opponents seem determined that mo money shall be appropriated to the college. The triends of the University are much against the bill, as they claim that its passage will divert more or later than any term during the past year. While discipline is improved and improved a claim that its passage will divert more or less attention from that State institution, of which we should be proud. The bill has been amended so as to try the experiment for five years, which makes it cas objectionable to those who are not

A change is proposed, at the instance of the Auditor, in the amount and the of the Auditor, in the amount and the time of distributing the State School fund. Instead of one-half in October and the balance in January, a bill (Senate 235) has balance in January, a bill (Benate 235) has been introduced proposing to pay one-eighth first of November, December, January and February respectively, one-bourth first of March, and the balance first of April. The adoption of this plan of payment will cause every Board of Education in the Btate to disappoint their various teachers, as warrants drawn on the Teachers in April III sealing the property of the prop various teachers, as warrants drawn out the Treasurer in April will hardly reach some parts of the State before the first of May, and many of the schools close the last of February. Whether it is the intention to extend the benign influence of the stay law to the State Treasury or not, I am not advised, but this looks like suspension to me, and will cause much dissatisfaction throughout the State.

satisfaction throughout the State.

This Legislature can contrive more ex-This Legislature can contrive more expedients and evade more constitutional provisions than any, or all of its predeces sors, and such a bill of ex officios was never thought of or introduced into any legislature contributed in the body since the organization of Republican government on the American continent. The latest ex officio arrangement was the passage of a bill the other day making the State Librarian (Mr. John Cole) Adjustant General ex officio and Quartermaster General ex officio and Quartermaster General ex officio, at an additional salary of two hundred and fifty dollars per month. He is to execute the Scate will consist of fifty members, and orders of the Governor "schen given according to late." The question arises, who is to interpret the law every time the Governor wants to or has occasion to issue orders. Cole is a good-humered gentleman, who is a sketchist, artist, poet and a ladies man (ex officio), and his time will be very much taken up now. He rather likes the title of General John Cole of Charleston, Kanwha county, W. Va. ex officio.

A bill has been passed and presented to the Governor, which will be sent back without his approval, almost certain, authorizing the bogus Board of Public Works to certify the election of members of Congress, which means tickets to Wilson, Martin and Hereford, who are to be imposed on the Clerk of the House of Representatives, thereby getting their names placed on the rolls, and making contestants out of Davis and Alagans. They will find the light of day breaking in on them; will find that the record of a partisan Legislature has preceded them.

in on them; will find that the record of a partisan Legislature has preceded them, that their acquaintance will be of no particular advantage to the present Congress, and that they are in the condition of the five foolish virgins who had neglected to properly trim their lamps, and were enjoined to "leave there" at the earliest opportunity. Martin is particularly unfortunate in hunting his rights. In 1861 he started south with W. H. Johnson and others, a blatant Confederate, determined to wade in Yankee blood. His enthusiasm knew no bounds. The Federal troops were then a good ways off, but at weakened, lost enthusiasm, became con-vinced cearly, that war was cruel and against his tastes; and he slid into a they mow. An enterprising Yankee, however, noticed the whole pile of hay breathing, as it were, and he secured a long tined lork, and commenced diving into the hay. At this Martin again weakened, and came forth; a live man, but completely overcome with Yankee cruelty in disturb-ing him in his retreat, which was similar to an ostrich with his head in the sand. to an ostrich with his head in the sand.
